“ When I told my children, Ben and Stephanie, that Uncle Jack passed away, they asked, "Uncle Jack, the Hero?" I said, "Yes, the Hero." From the perspective of a niece, he was a hero in many ways: he was larger than life in his much-decorated military service; he was a wonderful and loving uncle to be proud of; he was a supportive brother to my mother and daddy and visited them often; and he was a loving and respectful son.

The last time I saw him, during my mother's last days at the hospital, I walked through swinging door and saw him down a long, long corridor. Even from that distance, he lifted a hand and told the nurse, "There's my girl, there's my Carolyn, coming to get me."

Give Mama a kiss for me, Uncle Jack. Rest in peace. You've earned it.

Thank you Carolyn. I often read this to remind me of how much Daddy was loved because I loved him more than anybody. I tried so hard to keep him alive but he asked me to stop because he was tired and missed his family who had gone before him. I pray so hard that I'll see him and Mom in Heaven. Mom left 5 weeks after he did and I have to believe she left us to be with Daddy. They loved Each other but Daddy was stubborn till the end but admitted he never stopped loving her. Thank you for the kind words. PattiPeebles
