As an employee of the funeral home and coroner, he was on call twenty-four hours a day. When Daws Funeral Home changed ownership, he was able to obtain employment with the City of Philadelphia Police Department.

In December 1967 he was employed by the City of Philadelphia Police Department as a patrolman. After completing training at the Police Academy in Pearl, MS in March, 1969. “ Fulton was a good man. I am sorry to learn my cousin passed away. He grew up in a loving home with wonderful parents. His sisters and brothers looked after each other. I always admired Fulton and his seven brothers in serving in the military of our great nation. Not only did they serve on active duty but in later years one would find them involved in serving in organizations such as Veterans of Foreign Wars, and The America Legion.

Fulton was always involved in these organizations. I cannot think of a single family who did as much as the Will Jackson Family for their country.

One of the most precious memories I have is Fulton's mother, Aunt Mae teaching Sunday School at the "dinner on the ground" tables under the oak grove at the North Bend Methodist Church. I shall miss Fulton.

His sisters, Marie, Doris, and Mary were and are great ladies.
