By the way...The picture that his family out on his obituary page is a awful picture that was taken years and years ago ...it doesnt even look like him...The pictures that I had are a lot better picture than the one that his family and a friend picked out...I was suppose to have the authority to put what ever picture I choose for his obituary, since I was his wife ..but no his family and one othr perso that i will not mention stepped right over me...with out getting my approval...your day will come one day...before God....Have A Nice Day
