“ I hate that my family and I cannot make it. We loved memaw very much. I'll always remember her cooking big meals, fixing me a big plate, and then forcing me to eat more even though I'd already be full. One thing I always knew was that she loved me and my children, her great grandchildren, as well as my wife.

I remember her taking me to powwows and showing me our Chahta people. She would teach me words and phrases, and whenever I stayed over with her I was always fascinated when she'd speak with people back home in the Chahta language, but I always became annoyed when she'd throw my name out and then start laughing with whomever she was on the phone with.

One night we were riding back home in her red baretta and I had fallen asleep. We were on the interstate and it was late at night, and she scared me awake and started laughing. I didn't think it was funny, but she was a prankster.

Memaw, chi hollo li.

Your grandson, Steven.
