“ Some of my fondest memories are spending weekends with him after he was married and had children. I loved being there and helping with the kids. We also had some great times when they came for visit's on river at my parents place. Phillip loved fishing. One time he went out on the boat and after he brought it back Jack and I went out. We ran out of gas on the old river and were there for several hours before someone came by and gave us a tow! Phillip forgot to fill the gas tank back up! When we got back, Phillip had told Dad he forgot to fill the tank so they were going to give us another hour and if we didn't show they would come looking for us. We got a good tan that day!
